

Dear Delegates of the World Food Programme Committee,

Welcome to CIMUN V! My name is Chloe Oh, a junior at Korea International School, and it is my honor to serve as the President of the World Food Programme. This year, we will concentrate on enhancing agrifood systems to accelerate climate action. Agrifood systems are essential to combating climate change.

As delegates, it is imperative that you ensure your country's robust representation in debates and contribute to the creation of comprehensive resolutions aimed at improving existing agrifood systems. Despite an increase in financial support for climate change, investments in agrifood systems remain less than 20% of the total. Hence, your collaboration with fellow delegates is appreciated and will significantly impact your country's economy and hasten climate action.

Lastly, CIMUN V presents an invaluable opportunity for you to develop as a delegate. I urge you to engage fully in committee sessions and take pride in your contributions both prior to and during the conference. I look forward to meeting all of you this fall. Should you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me at ohchloe119@gmail.com.

Highest regards,

Chloe Oh

President of the World Food Programme
